Plumbing Training with a difference from knowledgeable and helpful teachers

Name: Dean Marshall
From: Retford, Lincolnshire, UK
Sector: Domestic

Master Plumber and Solar with Optional Renewable Energy (Level 2 and 3) (BPEC, City and Guilds, IOSH)

Post Naval Officer Dean Marshall knew what he wanted when he left the forces. The sporty ex seaman wanted a 'hands on job' with job satisfaction rating high on his list of must haves. With the help of his resettlement officer, Dean decided on a career in plumbing and renewable energy and began his Plumbing course with Met in November 2009.

'All the practical parts were most enjoyable. The work experience was hugely beneficial and I would recommend it anyone considering the course, all aspects of the course were thoroughly enjoyable. The accommodation was nearby and very pleasant. I attended the open day which was brilliant, very informative and told me all I needed to know.'

So would you recommend Met to a friend?

'Yes definitely, the course achieves what it promises, an intensive training package with a qualification. Brilliant tuition by helpful and knowledgeable teachers.'
